Nurse

Emergency service for injury cases is one of the many responsibilities of the school nurse, Mrs. Lura Walters. Her task is to check every student's hearing, and teeth. This year she worked with the Department of Physical Education and offered free tuberculin tests.

Over 300 students are given tuberculin tests each month by the nurse. Several students are selected to aid her in this work.

Office Staff

The office staff is always on hand to help students and to see that the office runs smoothly. Keeping detailed records of all students and processing tardies and absences are a few of the jobs of the attendance clerk.

The responsibilities of the secretary range from taking calls and making appointments for Dr. Addis, to processing eligibility lists.

Coming through the switchboard maze are many calls requesting information of events taking place at the school. It is the switchboard operator's task to supply this information and to check on absent students.

The treasurer's duties are to process funds and keep books for various organizations.

Managing student enrollment and keeping records of grades are the jobs of the registrar. Mimeograph production is the main duty of the assistant registrar.

OFFICE ACTIVITY is evidenced here by workers taking calls, aiding students, and typing material.

Library

With approximately 600 students using the library every day, Southeast's librarian, Mrs. Emma Seely, and her assistants, Mrs. Carmen Ainsworth and Mrs. Louise Stevens, never find a dull moment. They serve the student body and faculty. The librarians are kept busy ordering books, magazines, pamphlets, and periodicals; getting them ready for circulation; and cataloging them. Attractive displays, planned by the librarians, encourage interest and reading on the part of the students.

The increased demand for reading material has been met this year by nearly 1,000 new books. There are approximately 8,800 books in all the library, which, in addition to magazines and periodicals, are valued at $30,000.

Southeast is fortunate to have excellent library facilities. Besides the library proper there are two private offices and a classroom. The classroom serves as a meeting place for classes doing work in the library.

Seniors Do 'Stage Door'

For dramatics, under the direction of Miss [Name], presented the play "Stage Door" by Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman. In the [Name] was Terry Randall, a sincere young girl determined to break onto the Broadway stage, played by Susie Reiff. The play was climaxed by her decision not to give up her dream of the theater by yielding to her boy-friend and becoming a movie actress. The strange assortment of young hopefuls living at Terry's boardinghouse kept the play moving. A suicide, a marriage, and an overnight Hollywood success were only parts of the overall plot.

Band Gives Concert, Marches for Games

The band, under the direction of Mr. Howard Jacob, occupied much of this year by marching in the Santa Cruz parade, representing an assembly for the student body in January, and joining the community in February to present "Music for Quakers." Much time also went into rehearsing and practicing new and unusual routines for halftime entertainment during the football season.

The enthusiastic sound of the band has inspired school spirit in the student body at pep assemblies and basketball games. Selling magazines was a major activity for the music classes to raise money for the band uniforms and stage equipment.

Southeast's four twirlers, headed by Janice Bargdill, who ranks first in the state, put in many extra hours working out new routines for halftime entertainment and for the parade.

Debaters Ponder Labor Regulation Question

Southeast debaters took part in the year-end tournament at the University of Georgia. The debate question was "Should the Federal Government regulate the labor movement?"

It takes persons some time to get used to the sound of the question. They are quick to state their position and then to state the necessity of a labor law. They are quick to state a debater's position. Students in debate must logically analyze and organize material into a strong argument. They are constantly kept aware of current events. Southeast debaters, under the coaching of Mrs. Myrna Roe, became proficient at the art of debating during the first semester.

"HERE WE GO AGAIN!" Members of the debate teams board a waiting bus to attend an out-of-town tourney.

"OH COME NOW," Mike Jennings, junior, says tolerantly, as he points out a fact.

Hoofbeats Staff Works To Improve Yearbook

Hoofbeats staff members gained experience working on the 1960 edition of Hoofbeats by counting cutlines, pages, and pages kept staff members busy. Besides regular yearbook duties, staff members raised extra money for the yearbook by selling programs, pictures, corn, and giving a dance. Several members of the Hoofbeats staff attended yearbook conferences at the University of Wichita and at El Dorado, Kansas. A subscription campaign to sell yearbooks was kicked off by staff members carrying banners and making their improvised musical instruments. To provide interest, the staff presented an assembly which was entitled, "The Jack 'Under-Pan' Show."

Girls Participate in Sports; Earn Sweatshirts, Letters

A great variety of sports activities are available to girls enrolled in education and those interested in after-school activities. Whether a beginning bowler or a lifesaver in swimming, every girl at Southeast can find a sport to suit her fancy.

After a girl has fulfilled her requirements of one semester of education, she is free to choose her sport. If she chooses individual sports, she can choose tennis, badminton, or ping-pong. If a girl prefers team sports, she can choose ball and volleyball, soccer, or basketball. For girls who like floorwork classes, girls can choose tumbling, stunt, or cheerleading.

Paralleling the boys' program, the girls' program is also a "Lu Lus." After earning a certain number of points, girls are eligible to buy a "Lu Lus" sweatshirt. Points are given for participation in various sports. A or B letters are given to girls demonstrating various skills and numerous other awards.

Competition Keen In All Golf Meets

The Buffs Golf team, started their season this year after a long winter lay-up. After teeing off, chipping, and putting, the supervision of golf was left to the mero, a fair "hacker" who kept the team in shape by having them play at school. The golfers' home was at Clapp and after school, the team journeyed to Clapp and played nine holes of golf. After a week, the top six men played off the "A" team match. There were two man teams and four man teams. Opposing scores of both the two man team and the four man teams were counted. All competition was medal play.
